For over 25 years, Vincent has helped successful individuals, families and business owners protect their assets and loved ones through wealth transfer planning. He specializes in estate planning, supplemental income retirement planning and business succession planning through the proper selection and placement of insurance solutions and strategies.

The bulk of his career has been working with advisors and their clients through the protection of income and assets. Vincent has worked for companies such as Travelers, MetLife and AIG as an individual contributor of insurance solutions as well as a senior leader determining where solutions-based advice can make a difference. From working with high income and high net worth clients to straight-forward income replacement protection for the more complex cases involving legacy planning and estate planning, Vincent has had the privilege of guiding hundreds of clients and advisors to strategies and solutions that fit their needs, concerns, and goals.

Vincent, his wife, and their two boys live in Suffield, CT where he enjoys his kids variety of sporting clubs throughout the school year. He also enjoys skiing in the winter as well as golfing and biking in the warmer months.
