

a new podcast

from the Personal Story
Publishing Project

Everybody loves a good story.

And maybe a brief, entertaining, thought-provoking one is just what we need in our too-busy lives.

Take a minute—just six of them, more or less—and listen to some true, personal stories shared by experienced writers and new voices alike. These stories appear in the latest releases from the Personal Essay/Story Publishing Project: Bearing Up and Exploring, personal stories about “making do, bearing up, and overcoming adversity” and “discoveries, challenges, and adventure.” The books and podcast are offered through DanielBooneFootsteps.com by award-winning author and storyteller Randell Jones. A new “6-minute Story” drops each week. Grab it when you have a few minutes. Listen. Ponder. Write a review. Tell a friend about “6-minute Stories.” Maybe write a story of your own for our 2020 Personal Story Publishing. Project.

Subscribe now at Apple Podcasts, Spotify, and Stitcher

“6-minute Stories” at RandellJones.com

6minutestories@gmail.com